DAMVAD Analytics is hiring an intern for spring 2019

Who are we?

DAMVAD Analytics is a consulting firm based in Stockholm and Copenhagen with customers throughout the Nordic countries. We work with economic analyses within areas such as the labor market, education, and research and innovation. We combine quantitative and qualitative methods to provide valuable insights for customers in both the public and private sector. In your role with us, you will help our clients in our projects but also contribute to internal processes such as method development.

What will your tasks be?

You will become part of a dynamic, creative and ambitious firm where all employees are encouraged to contribute to innovative ideas. We are a flat organization where each employee's contribution to the whole is valued highly.

Your tasks will include:

- Qualitative and quantitative data collection
- Conducting survey research
- Communicating results through reports and presentations
- … and much more. We work on consultancy basis, which often involves tight deadlines and working in several ongoing projects simultaneously.

Who are you?

In the spring, you start your final semester of a master's program within social science and are interested in completing an internship. You have good academic qualifications and proficient Excel skills. Experience from similar tasks, such as a research assistant, is highly meritorious. Because we often write reports in Swedish, we are looking for someone who communicates fluently in Swedish.

If you have the following characteristics, this internship is perfectly suited for you:

- Great skills in qualitative and quantitative methods
- Good communicative skills
- Quick at grasping new information
- Accustomed to a fast-paced work environment
